Art Unit: 1714

1. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for the disclosed substituents, does not reasonably provide enablement for all of the encompassed substituents. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

A. The instant claim recites "substituted". It would require undue experimentation to determine all of the chemically diverse substituents from the infinite list of such substituents, many of which are expected to make the instantly claimed invention inoperable, which would function properly in the instant specification other than those which the enabling specification describes.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by WO 03/082997

Fan et al..

Art Unit: 1714

Fan discloses coated grout particles, which falls within the scope of grout, which are coated with the instantly claimed polyurethane oligomers at the abstract; page 3, lines 8-31; page 32, lines 6-12; and the remainder of the document.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by US Pat. No. 6646088 Fan et al..

Fan discloses coated grout particles, which falls within the scope of grout, which are coated with the instantly claimed polyurethane oligomers at the abstract; column 2, line 50 to column 3, line 29; column 22, lines 50-61; and the remainder of the document.

6. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

7. Claim 1 is rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-34 of U.S. Patent No. 6646088 Fan et al.. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because although the instant claim and those of the patentee differ somewhat in scope it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to perform the instantly claimed invention from the claims of the patentee particularly claims 21-27 because the specification defines the substrates claimed as including coated grout particles (column 22, lines 50-61) which is grout.

8. Claim 1 is provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 24-27 of copending Application No. 10/957355. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because although the instant claim and those of the patentee differ somewhat in scope it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to perform the instantly claimed invention from the claims of the patentee particularly claims 24-27 because the specification defines the substrates claimed as including coated grout particles (page 44, lines 18-19) which is grout.

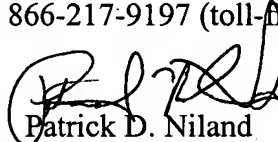

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
